DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McNaught et al. (1,798,481).

McNaught et al. ('481) discloses the claimed invention except that the pawl has a recess in a second side, and the handle has a protrusion extending from a first end, rather than a handle having a recess in a first end and a pawl having a protrusion extending from a second side. However, the examiner respectfully contends that such is equivalent structure for engaging the pivoting handle with the pawl. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to place the recess in the handle and the protrusion on the pawl, since it has been held that a mere reversal of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. In re Einstein, 8 USPQ 167.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 3723

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: It is the examiner's opinion that a ratchet tool as further claimed in combination with the following additional elements, either a flexible plate extending from the first side of the pawl and contacting the toothed member, or further comprising two springs received in the ring-shaped head and located on two sides of the first end of the handle, has neither been anticipated nor fairly suggested, in part or whole, by the prior art of record.
